DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This communication is in response to the special amendment filed on 12/19/05. Accordingly, Claims 1-7, 9-13, 15, and 16 are currently pending in the application.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-7, 9-13, 15, and 16 allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

3. Claim 1 is allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken individually or in combination fails to particularly disclose a VC mapping unit that maps a DS asynchronous signal to a VC signal as a byte unit, according to the mapping address and wherein the VC mapping unit comprises a plurality of elastic buffers that write the DS asynchronous signal as a bit unit and read the DS asynchronous signal as the byte unit comprising a parallel asynchronous signal of 8 bits. It is noted that the closest prior art, Russell et al. (US 6584118) discloses the method of mapping Ethernet data frames into SDH virtual container. However, Russell fails to disclose or render obvious to the above underline limitations as claimed.

4. Claim 6 is allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken individually or in combination fails to particularly disclose an STM-1 address generating unit that generates a mapping address; a virtual container multiplexer, within the virtual container mapping unit, that multiplexes a number of the byte units received from the plurality of elastic buffers into the virtual containers; and a virtual container framer that identifies a mapping position of the asynchronous signal, based on the mapping address generated by the STM-1 address generating unit, and controls the multiplexing of the number of byte units into the virtual container. It is noted that the closest prior art, Russell et al. (US 6584118) discloses the method of mapping Ethernet data frames into SDH virtual container. However, Russell fails to disclose or render obvious to the above underlined limitations as claimed.

5. Claim 9 is allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken individually or in combination fails to particularly disclose that the read pointer generating unit increments or decrements the read address, after each of a number of the parallel data bits is read from the elastic buffer, by a value of four, six, or eight, and the value by which the read pointer generating unit is incremented or decremented depends on a number of null bits received in the serial asynchronous data. It is noted that the closest prior art, Russell et al. (US 6584118) discloses the method of mapping Ethernet data frames into SDH virtual container. However, Russell fails to disclose or render obvious to the above underline limitations as claimed.

6. Claim 13 is allowable over the prior art of record since the cited references taken individually or in combination fails to particularly disclose reading the parallel data units from the plurality of elastic buffers, according to generate read address; and writing the plurality of serial asynchronous data signal to the plurality of elastic buffers, according to generated write addresses, wherein a system clock controls the timing of writing the serial asynchronous data to the plurality of elastic buffers and reading the parallel data unit from the plurality of elastic buffers. It is noted that the closest prior art, Russell et al. (US 6584118) discloses the method of mapping Ethernet data frames into SDH virtual container. However, Russell fails to disclose or render obvious to the above underline limitations as claimed.
